DETAILED ACTION

Final rejection of 12-13-2004 has been withdrawn since a new prior art was used.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claims 22-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Patent No.5733265 to Bachman et al.

Bachman teaches a collar slidably matable about said collar; a neck member extending from the collar 48; a housing 32 pivotally connected to the end of the neck member away from the collar; and a latch member 70 extending from the neck member in a direction towards the center of the collar, the latch member coacting with the hub to prevent the collar from being removed from the vial once the collar has been mated about the vial and moved to be substantially adjacent the hub.

2. Claims 22-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Patent No.5669889 to Gyure.

Gyure teaches a collar; a neck member 44 extending from the collar 41; a housing 50 pivotally connected to the end of the neck member away from the collar; and a latch member 69 extending from the neck member in a direction towards the center of the collar, wherein when said collar is placed about a vial and movable toward a hub of said vial until adjacent to one end of the hub, said latch member is latched onto another ends of the said hub.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 22-27 are have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

4. Applicant's arguments filed 4/15/2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

a. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., collar is being removed from the syringe the latch member catches the other end of the hub preventing it from being pulled off, in another words the latch member is a safety device) are not recited in the rejected claim(s).

Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

b. Applicant wished the examiner to read into the claim language "wherein when said collar is placed about a vial and movable toward a hub of said vial until adjacent to one end of the hub, said latch member is latched onto another ends of the said hub " to means when the collar is being removed from the syringe the latch member catches the other end of the hub preventing it from being pulled off, in another words the latch member is a safety device. However all the applicant has claimed is a collar that is placed around a saying and when it is being placed around the hub of the syringe the collar is adjacent of one end of the hub and the latched member is latched on to the another end. This action could be achieved when the collar is being placed on the syringe, one of the definitions of latched in the dictionary is to "get a hold of" and using that definition both of the prior art reads on the claim. If the applicant wished the examiner to interpret the latch member as more of a safety device where when the collar is being pulled off the latch member prevents this act then the applicant should claim such a language just as he has in claim 1 which was why those claims were allowed.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-6 are allowed.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
